RESEARCH

Design and implement health services and outcomes research, which leverages the connectivity of Geisinger’s electronic health record, and conduct innovative prospective studies through deployment of advanced technology-assisted solutions to health-system problems. Areas of focus include medication adherence, pharmacy services, diabetes and cardiovascular conditions.

Currently funded research projects	Role	Sponsor
Development of clinical decision support for patients with acute coronary syndrome (ACS)	PI	AstraZeneca
Impact of inpatient to outpatient pharmacist care on patient outcomes among high-risk patients post-discharge using virtual connectivity	PI	NACDS Foundation
MedTrue™ - Medication reconciliation and adherence web-application	PI	Merck
MyCode participant attitudes on communication of pharmacogenetic test results	Co-I	PCORI
Value of Pharmacogenomics	Co-I	National Bureau of Economic Research
Assessment of medication adherence, glycemic control and healthcare utilization among patients with Type 2 diabetes mellitus	PI	Intarcia
Qualitative analysis of living with diabetes among patients with varying degrees of medication adherence	Site-PI	Intarcia
Impact of pharmacist-led management of diabetes Mellitus on patient outcomes and cost of care	Co-I	GSK
Implementation and evaluation of medication take-back	PI	Cardinal Health Foundation
Implementation and evaluation of the public health impacts of a systematic medication take-back program	PI	First Community Foundation Partnership
Unfunded research projects
Undertreatment of newly diagnosed patients with newly diagnosed familial hypercholesterolemia	Co-I
Evaluation of temporal trends in lipid screening and therapy among pediatric patients: an HCSRN collaboration	Site-PI
Assessment of medication use among medically complex children	PI
Previous research projects
Prescribing patterns in acute coronary syndrome patients	PI	AstraZeneca
Descriptive analysis of patients admitted to the hospital for an acute coronary event	Co-I	Genentech Inc.
Post-order interventions on primary medication adherence	Site Co-I	NACDS Foundation
Development of CM-PACER – development and evaluation on patient outcomes and medication adherence	Co-I	Merck
Effect of OpenNotes on patient adherence patterns	PI	RWJ/Geisinger (internal)
Evaluation of pharmacist discharge medication reconciliation	Co-I	Geisinger (internal)
Descriptive analysis of COPD patients	PI	Forest Research Institute

POST-GRADUATE PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

2015-present, Fellowship in Pharmacy Health Services and Outcomes

This 2-year post-doctoral fellowship was designed to provide robust translational science experience. The fellowship was designed to prepare the fellow for independent research investigation within a health system to conduct retrospective outcomes studies, while also evaluating innovative prospective health services.

2003 - 2009, PGY2 Ambulatory Care Residency (Program Director)

This one year post-doctoral graduate year two (PGY2) pharmacy residency was designed to provide clinical training in ambulatory care pharmacy practice. Training promoted and enhanced skills necessary to become an advanced level pharmacy practitioner in the area of ambulatory care and academia. Primary training locations were at a Veterans Affairs Medical Center and a Family Medicine Clinic. Total of 6 residents were trained from 2003-2009 consecutively.

Is Christianity Credible?

This class engaged students of all different belief backgrounds to evaluate the validity of the claim of Jesus Christ as God guided mainly by the writing of C.S. Lewis's "Mere Christianity". Students are challenged to defend or refute the faith of Christianity using logic, and to develop a deeper perspective into the meaning of life.
